New Skirt For 1866.
The Great Invention of the Age in HOOP SKIRTS.
J. W. BRADLEY'S New Patent DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (or double) SPRING SKIRT.

THIS INVENTION consists of DUPLEX (or two) ELLIPTIC PURE REFINED STEEL SPRINGS, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most flexible, elastic and durable SPRING ever used. They seldom bend or break, like the Single Spring, and consequently preserve their perfect and beautiful Shape more than twice as long as any single spring skirt that ever has or can be made.

The wonderful flexibility and great comfort experienced particularly in all crowded Assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promonade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a Silk or Muslin Dress.

A Lady having Enjoyed the Pleasure, Comfort and Great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies they are superior to all others.

The Hoops are covered with 2 ply double twisted thread and will wear twice as long as the single yarn covering which is used on all Single Hoop Skirts. The three bottom rods on every Skirt are also Double Steel, and twice or double covered to prevent the covering from wearing off the rods when dragging down stairs, stone steps etc, etc, which they are constantly subject to when in use.

All are made of the new and elegant Corded Tapes, and are the best quality in every part, giving to the wearer the most graceful and perfect Shape possible, and are unquestionably the lightest, most desirable, comfortable and economical Skirt ever made.

WEST BRADLEY & CARY, PROPRIETORS of the Invention, and SOLE MANUFACTURERS, 97 CHAMBERS, 79 & 81 READE STREETS New York.

For sale in all first-class stores in this City, and throughout the United States and Canada, Havana de Cuba, Mexico, South America and the West Indies.

Late Papers.

LATE Richmond and New York, papers are kept for sale at the post-office.

Salisbury Dec. 11th 1865. tfd-169.

To the Citizens of North-Carolina.

The termination of a sanguinary contest, which for the past four years has presented an impassable barrier to all social or commercial intercourse between the two great sections of our country, having at length happily cleared away all obstacles to a removal of those relations which formerly bound us together in a fraternal union, I take the earliest opportunity afforded me by this auspicious event, to greet my Southern friends, and to solicit from them a renewal of that extensive business connection which for a quarter of a century has been uninterrupted save by the great public calamity to which I have adverted.

It is scarcely necessary, on the threshold of a business re-union, I should repeat the warning so often given to my friends,—to beware of all those spurious and deleterious compounds which, under the specious and false titles of Imported Wines, Brandies, Holland Gin, Liquors, &c., have been equally destructive to the health of our citizens as prejudicial to the interests of the legitimate Importer.

Many years of my past life have been expended in an open and candid attempt to expose these wholesale frauds; no time nor expense has been spared to accomplish this salutary purpose, and to place before my friends and the public generally, at the lowest possible market price, and in such quantities as might suit their convenience, a truly genuine imported article.

Twenty-five years' business transaction with the largest and most respectable exporting houses in France and Great Britian have afforded me unsurpassed facilities for supplying our home market with Wines, Liquors, and Liqmures of the best and most approved brands in Europe, in addition to my own distillery in Holland for the manufacture of the "Schiedam Schnapps."

The latter, so long tested and approved by the medical Faculties of the United States, West Indies and South America as an invaluable Therapeutic, a wholesome, pleasaht, and perfectly safe beverage in all climates and during all seasons, quickly excited the cupidity of the home manufacturers and venders of a spurious article under the same name.

I trust that I have, after much toil and expense, surrounded all my importations with safeguards and directions which with ordinary circumspection will inshure their delivery, as I receive them from Europe, to all my customers.

I would however, recommend in all cases where it is possible, that orders be sent direct to my Depot. 22 Beaver Street, New York, or that purchases be made of my accredited agents.

In addition to a large stock of Wines, Brandies, &c. in wood, I have a considerable supply of old tried foreign wines, embraceing vintages of many past years, bottled up before the commencement of the war, which I can especialy recommended to all connaisseurs of these rare luxuries.

In conclusion, I wothl especially call the earley attention of my Southern customers to the advantage to be derived by transmitting their orders without loss of time, of time, or calling personally at the Depot, in order to inshure the fulfilment of their favors from the present large and well selected assortment.

THE LEGISLATURE.

This model institution has, we believe, concluded to "shut up the shebang" until February. Why not sine die? What good have they accomplished except passing the Constitutional Amendment with so much unanimity. It is evident from all we can learn from Washington, that Mr. Stevens will shortly introduce a bill to re-organize the States lately at war; when that is done what does this Legislature amount to.

The Republicans can pass any bill over the President's veto by uniting. Nothing that can now be done shall affect our equanimity of disposition. When Congress first met, we had hopes which were not realized, but "nipped in the bud." We are now prepared for any turn of the wheel, for we are in that blessed state of beatitude so graphically described in the aphorism of Sambo, "blessed am dat nigger, what expects notthin, for he a'int agwine to be disapinted."

We had, as it turned out, no moral voice in the late election—it can be of little moment to us to be deprived of the right of suffrage, provided in so doing we may be assured that the government of the country will be taken out of the hands of the Pools, the Warrens, and such ilk, and transferred to such men as Boyden, Jones, Moore, Starbuck and Lash, who understand what it is to act on principle, and can, therefore, have some fellow-feeling with the secessionists. We shall continue to support Gov. Holden in the right, notwithstanding an apparently indirect attempt emanating from his office to snub us. We assure the gentlemen connected with it (for we do not suppose that Gov. Holden knows of it,) that it only created a smile, and furthermore, we could tell them something about the increased circulation of our paper which would open their eyes. The Governor has not, to say the least—and we regret it—too many supporters among the press of the State and it is but very few men who can, like the immortal Garrick,

"Throw off his friends as a huntsman his pack,
For he knew when he pleased he could whistle them back."

THE NATIONAL EXPRESS COMPANY.

We see by reference to the card of this Company in another column, that it has been incorporated by the State of Virginia, from which we infer that it has not been incorporated elsewhere. It has not at least in this State, and we would respectfully suggest that, as our Legislature is now in session, an Act of Incorporation be applied for,

The charter granted by the Virginia Legislature can have no extra-territorial effect. The success of Express Companies is always in proportion to the security felt by the shippers. When he feels that he not only has honorable gentlemen to deal with, but in the event of a difficulty, some one whom he can hold responsible in the courts, he will cheerfully adopt this to any other mode of conveyance. As it is, who could he hold responsible in law for any delinquency of duty outside of Virginia,

A PRETTY SENTIMENT.

"'Tis sweet to live," is the almost involuntary language of the human heart. From the infant sporting on its mother's knee, down to the old, grey-headed man, life has its charms.

The joyous hearted child, the aspiring youth, the man of business, the seekers after honor, wealth or pleasure, all feel that life is sweet, as it affords opportunities to each to pursue his favorite phantom; the attainment of which is his idea of happiness.

To those who live in the affections and sympathies of their fellow-men, loving and beloved, life is sweet indeed. But this can best be uttered by those who appreciate life in its true character, as the season which God hath given in which to prepare to die; and they are permitted to perform the duties of life, to ease the pain and soothe the sorrows of their fellow travelers, to live in communion with God and for promotion of his glory—they may well exclaim, "It is sweet to live," since "to live in Christ."

"It is sweet to die" is not the willing language of the heart.

There is in death a dread, a mystery, from which they would gladly turn away. Sometimes, when worn with suffering, and racked with pain, death is welcomed as the end of earthly sorrow. It is only the language of those whose faith can triumph o'er the grave and who can welcome death as a friend sent to introduce them to a higher state as service and enjoyment in their Father's house above.

SENATE.

Monday, December 11.

The Senate was called to order. Prayer by the Rev. Drury Lacy, L. D., of the Presbyterian church.

The Journal of Saturday last was read, and the Senate proceeded to business.

Mr. Bynum introduced the following preamble and resolutions, to ascertain what portion of the public debt was incurred in aid of the rebellion, and for other purposes.

WHEREAS, By an ordinance of the late Convention, ratified the 19th day of October, 1865, it is made the duty of the General Assembly to provide for the payment of all debts and obligations created or incurred by the State, otherwise than in aid of the late rebellion; and whereas, by the same ordinance, all debts and obligations created or incurred by the State, in aid of the late rebellion, directly or indirectly, are declared void; and the General Assembly is prohibited from assuming or providing for the payment of the same, or any portion thereof; and whereas, much doubt and uncertainty prevail, to the injury of the public creditors and others, and to the hindrance of correct legislation in the premises, as to what debts and obligations of the State are in force, and what are void; therefore—

Resolved, That the joint standing committee on Finance be entrusted to inquire and report by bill or otherwise, what portion of the debts and obligations of the State was made in aid of the late rebellion, and therefore void; and what portion was made not in aid of the late rebellion, and therefore to be provided for.

Mr. A. J. Jones, a resolution that the committee on the Judiciary be instructed to report a bill declaring what are in force, and what laws ought to be repealed,

Message from the House of Commons transmitting the engrossed bill providing for the payments of the State debt contracted before the war.

Mr. Morehead introduced a bill to prevent horse stealing. (Makes the offense punishable by death, without the benefit of clergy).

Mr. Morehead, a bill, to provide for the poor.

Mr. Wilson, a bill to incorporate the Mining and Manufacturing and Improvement company.

Mr. Wilson, a bill and memorial to incorporate the American Industrial Agency.

Mr. Eure introduced a resolution that the committee on the judiciary be instructed to enquire if any, and if any, what legislation be required for the relief of guardians and other persons who have been invested in stocks or Confederate funds that have been repudiated.

Mr. Arendell, a resolution authorizing the Sheriff of Carteret county to collect certain taxes.

Mr. Morehead, a bill to enable Sheriffs to collect arrears of taxes, &c.

The bill to abolish the office of auditor and for other purposes, being on its 3rd reading, was under consideration, when the Speaker announced the hour of 12 o'clock having arrived, the Senate, under a joint agreement of the two houses, would proceed to vote for seven Councillors of State. Messrs. Faison and Arendell were appointed on the part of the Senate to superintend the election. [For result of joint election see House proceedings.]

The Senate then resumed the consideration of the bill, on its third reading, to abolish the office of auditor of public accounts, &c. A debate sprung up as to the salary to be paid the comptroller; a motion being made to strike out $2,000 in the bill and insert $1,500. Mr. Whitford advocated the amendment to the bill as reported from the committee. He remarked that North Carolina had never been injured by paying large salaries, but had suffered by paying small salaries. He cited the salary of our Governor as being too small to entertain the public as the character of the great State of North Carolina demanded. He was clearly of the opinion that the laborer was entitled to the price of his hire. Mr. Wiggins called for the yeas and nays, which resulted in the negative.

Mr. Wiggins then moved to amend by striking out $1,200 for the clerk and insert $1,000 which was not adopted.

The question then recurring on the passage of the bill, the yeas and nays being called, resulted, yeas 20, nays 18.

Senate then adjourned till to-morrow morning 10 o'clock.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Monday, December 11.

The Speaker called the House to order pursuant to adjournment.

Prayer by Rev. T. E. Skinner, of the Baptist Church.

Messrs. Smith of Hertford, Murphy and Allison were announced as the House branch of the joint committee to inquire as to the ownership of the Piedmont Railroad.

The Senate a resolution inquiring of the Governor in regard to restoing the jurisdiction of the Courts, having been favorably reported on by the committee, was read.

Mr. Jenkins of Warren, said he had no objection to the resolution of the Courts, but he wished to know what the restrictions of this General Assembly, under which the resoltuion suggests their restoration, are to be, before he was willing to vote for it. He presumed, if the Governor had power to restore the Courts, he had also, the power to impose restrictions, and he hoped he would do it, and that the Courts might not be allowed to issue process and sell property under the present financial pressure.

Mr. Smith of Hertford, moved to lay the resolution on the table and the motion prevailed.

ON THE THIRD READING.

The resolution in favor of L. G. Ward security of Abram Sellars, passed the third reading, after the adoption of the amendment of the committee.

Patterson, Henry A. Bissell, W. W. Lemior, David Carter, and Henry A. Lumly.

Messrs. McAden and Hutchinson were appointed to superintend the election.

RECONSTRUCTION.

MR. EDITOR:—It is not the profession of your correspondent to wade in the turbid waters of political strife, but he can see no just reason, at this critical crisis, why every good and true man should not contribute his mite toward the grand desideratum of the South, reconstruction. If there ever was a time in the history of the Southern people, when all party strife and political factions should be wholly ignored, and all unholy passions sacrificed at the shrine of common sense and good reason, that time is now. We are now, as a semination, standing upon a political platform, from which by prudence and wisdom we may ascend to that exalted position we once held among the nations of the world; or from which by a single careless, inadvertent act, we may be plunged into the gaping abyss of anarchy and ruin, that opens its hideous jaws beneath us.

Will our people not heed the dictates of wisdom, and profit by the painful experience of the past? Will they not look upon the dilapidations and ruins of ancient Greece and Rome, and behold in these the true type of our own beloved land? If we close our eyes against the light that flashes so brilliantly around us, and rush headlong, guided by passion and party, upon the great work of reconstruction, we need not wonder if ultimately we find ourselves blotted from the scroll of nations.

When this great revolution in the South was commenced, many of us were strenuously opposed to the breaking up of the Union, and we fought the doctrine of secession with tongue and pen, till circumstances forced a separation of States upon us. Then, when the Southern Government, (so-called,) was inaugurated by the leading politicians of the South, we saw no alternative left us but to fall in with the majority and to fight manfully, or to be branded with cowardice and disloyalty, and to be treated as rebels by the newly inaugurated Government. What else could honest and law-abiding men do? We certainly acted in good faith, as reason and revelation both demand; and now that we are completely subjugated, the United States should be sufficiently magnanimous to respect us for our correctness of intention, and not to keep thousands of honest, brave men in durance vile for the freaks of a few hot headed men both in the South and in the North.

We are candidly willing to admit that the leading spirits of the South made a grand mistake when they sought to have their grievances redressed out side of the Union, But we are also candid in asserting that the blame of disruption rests as heavily upon the radicals at the North as it does upon the hot heads at the South. Why then should not the policy of the Government be such as to concede to the masses of the South, equal rights and privileges with the masses at the North? The one is just as innocent of intentional wrong as the other. Both have been sufferers for the sins of others, and deserve the commisseration of the General Government.

As it regards the present disloyalty of the people of the South, no man of good sense and correct morals will assert such a thing Those journals that proclaim that the Southern people now entertain sentiments of disloyalty, are journals controlled by disappointed aspirants for public honors, who split their spleen and vituperation upon an innocent people in order to assuage their own hellish passions. It is frankly admitted that the entire failure of the South to succeed, and her present dilapidated condition, have their effect in rendering the people somewhat reckless. But, that they would ever, if restored to the privileges and favors of the General Government, take up arms against that Government again, is all bosh. Your correspondent lives in the mountains of North Carolina among a people who were almost a unit in opposing the doctrine of secession at the beginning of the war; but who, when the war did come, were almost a unit in marching boldly to the front and there fighting manfully till we were overrun. And yet, there is not a people now in the North, or the South more willing than these sturdy mountaineers, to come under the old Constitution of our fathers again, and there abide forever.

All the people of the South ask, is, to be restored to our proper position among the States, where our lives and property shall be once more protected by the arm of the law, and all will again be right To consummate this grand result, all our people, individually and collectively, in all our present Legislative councils, should chime in with the policy of our noble President. To oppose his policy, is to remain under military rule. And the longer the Southern people are controlled by military rule, the wider becomes chasm between the North and the South.

Then, if we truly desire a reconstruction of the States let every one be cautious of what he says and what he does. Let all "by-gones be by-gones." Let the social principles of our nature be cultivated between us and the people of the North. We must sacrifice our prejudices on both sides, and endeavor to heal the breach the war has made between us, if we would ever again enjoy the happiness of those halcyon days of yore,

MOUNTAINEER.

WEDDED WOE—AN ELOPEMENT AND ARREST.—On Wednesday last, a well known resident of Baltimore, doing business in Washington appeared at Marshal Carmichael's office, and gave information of a rather extensive breach-of-trust operation, perpetrated by his own wife. He stated that he had been married some six years; and although he had, upon certain occasions, been ruffled somewhat at her conduct, yet he had never doubted her truth and honesty. On Tuesday last, however, he states that he disposed of a house on Exeter street, for $4,000, and gave her $3,000 of the money to be deposited in bank. He took his departure for Washington, and upon returning the same night, was somewhat taken back at receiving a note from his truant wife, cooly informing him "that she had taken the money, and by the time the note reached him, she would be thousands of miles away with one whom she loved dearly." Exasperated at her conduct, he obtained the services of detective Smith, by whose aid he was enabled to trace her, and found that she had given the money to a young man, (whose name, out of respect to his family we refrain from publishing.) and had concluded arrangements for a final departure. The husband was fortunate enough, however, on Friday last to encounter the aforesaid young man, who, it seems, had been a former admirer of his fickle wife, and hailing a policeman, ordered his arrest. He was taken before Marshal Carmichael, when he admitted having received the money, and offered to refund it if the husband would stay further proceedings. To this the husband willingly assented, expressing no desire to recover his wife, but stating that he only wanted his money. The case was immediately compromised by the return of his money, and the young man was released, the husband leaving the office appearently well pleased with the denouement.

"THE WAR IS NOT ENDED."

Such is the word sent by telegraph through the country. Thus Congress is to proclaim. Upon this theory the War Department has been acting. The President, too, is charged with it, though his language has thus far been heard in protest against the false and cruel assumption.

"The war has ended two years too soon," was the recent declaration of a rapacious and ferocious office holder. "We have whipped the rebels, but we have not whipped them enough," was his explanation.

The desire to crush out a fallen foe is, however, only a small part of the feeling which dictates this clamor for more war. It is the desire for plunder that is uppermost. The standing army, which now numbers 180,000, will afford places for a host of men, if it is still kept up on a war footing. The expenditure of a war which has enriched multitudes and given birth to a new aristocracy must not be discontinued. That arbitrary power which depends upon the pretence of a war necessity for its existence, and which enables Secretaries to suspend hostile journals, to interdict disloyal churches, to arrest opposing politicians, and to imprison the witnesses of their corruption, is too precious a prerogative to be hastily surrendered. The war must go on.

The rebel armies have surrendered, the soldiery have returned to their homes, the Confederacy is dissolved, the States have severed the links that bound them to it and to each other in rebellion, the ordinance of secession is annulled, the rebel debt repudiated—there is peace, for there is no enemy to make war. But Congress and the lobby, the contractors and the office-holders, the secretaries and the speculators unite in saying that the war is not ended!

Against whom, then, is it waged? Against the people, the tax payers, the States, the industry of the masses, the public credit, the liberty of citizens! This is the war that closed against the South, is re-opened by politicians at Washington. Let them recollect that there are two sides to such a war, and that, powerful as they may think themselves in position and resources, the people against whom they proclaim hostilities are yet stronger.—Alabany Argus.

PRIVATE SCHOOL FOR YOUNG LADIES.

Miss MARGARET MITCHELL and Mrs. E. N. GRANT,

LOCAL.

THE SCHOOL-HOUSE.

We have chosen the above appellation with some care, for while on the one hand our city building (?) intended for the use of those who propose to teach the "young idea how to shoot," is a grade above the hog pens and hen-houses with which our back lots are frequently beautified and adorned, yet it would be an insult to the shade of Aristotle to call it an academy. There is not a window-sash or a window-light in the building; in consequence, during cold weather, Mr. Brown has to keep the door open for a purpose not originally intended when it was made, namely, light. Such a school-house is a disgrace to our city and a crying evil. Don't our citizens appreciate the education and health of their children? We tell them that the health of their children is imperilled, to some extent, in such a shanty. In the good old times, ante bellum, there was not a negro slave who could not boast a better "cabin." Do not take our word for it, go yourselves, and see the place. Now, we propose to receive at this office subscriptions to repair the building, the maximum not to exceed fifty cents. So hand in your "harves" fractional currency immediately "if not sooner."

Encourage such an excellent No. 1 teacher as Mr. Brown—you can never get a better.

We hope Bro. Cole will assist us in this matter.

MONEY NEEDED IN THE CITY TREASURY.

The Gazette a few days since, called attention to the fact that our streets are in a deplorable condition. We were aware of this, however, before such public notice was made, and as the Gazette suggested no remedy, we paid no more attention to its complaint than to hundreds of others, we have heard, of a similar character. It is but too true that our streets and pavements are in a bad condition. The "gutters" are filled up, the side stones have fallen down, and in many places the pavements are out of repair—almost impassable,—absolutely dangerous to travel after night. Dirt and filth have accumulated in every quarter: so much so that the health of our city is endangered. Now shall this state of things continue to exist? It is certainly to the interest of every citizen that they shall not. Very well, what is the remedy? It is very certain that the streets can not be kept in order and a police paid for guarding the interests of our citizens, without money. But where is the money to come from? How is it to be raised? These are questions that at once present themselves. Our citizens are too poor, it will be said by many, to attempt to levy and colect a tax from them at this time. We admit that our citizens are poor, but if they are not willing to submit to a tax which is indispensably necessary to keep their city in a respectable and healthy condition, and to pay men for keeking watch ove their interest day and night, then, we say, they should hand over their Charter and cease to make any claim to respectability as a city corporation.

The Town Charter sets forth the way and manner in which taxes are to be raised, and we have been surprised, seeing the necessity of keeping our city in a clean and healthy condition, that our city authorities have neglected this imperative duty so long. We believe they have thus far made no effort, or, at least, for some reason thought proper not to exercise a clear right which they possess, if we except a simple announcement to raise a specific tax. The fact is, the interest and welfare of the city demands that our streets shall be put in order as soon as practicable, and that an efficient Police shall be kept up, and in order to do this, we must have a revenue; we must levy and collect a tax sufficient to meet the necessary expenditures. Our city authorities have been very indulgent—yea, even to a fault. But the duty which now devolves upon them is too urgent to be longer delayed, and it is to be hoped that they will act promptly in adopting the proper steps necessary to be taken in order to place our city in a condition, at least respectable.

Four negro soldiers went into a bank-house in Mobile, on the 20th inst., to obtain change for several five hundred dollar bills, which they thonght were fifties. Their ignorance of their value aroused the suspicions of the clerk, who had them arrested, when it was found they had stolen the money ($2,000,) from Mtthew Scott, and old citizen.

PROSPECTUS.

THE publication of the NORTH CAROLINA PRESBYTERIAN will be resumed in Fayetteville, on Wednesday 2d January next.

Confidently relying upon the hearty suport which we have heretofore received, we shall endeavor to render the paper more attractive, both in appearance and matter, than it has ever been, sparing neither pains nor expense, in the accomplishment of this purpose.

With the passing away of old things, a new spirit of activity, energy and enterprise has been infused into every department of secular thought and business. Why should not the CHURCH, also, partake of this progressive advancement? Why should she, of all the agencies, brought to bear with such tremendous force upon the civilization of the present time, be inefficient, laggard and almost hopeless, in the working out of her own destiny?

To arouse the CHURCH to the importance and necessity of WORK: of unceasing, restless, tireless energy in the service of her Master and Head; this shall be our first and chiefest aim. In this we need assistance. We are not alone, sufficient for these things. Our brethren must help us in every way; contributions from their own stores of thought and study; by zealous co-operation in a common cause for the benefit of all; by extending our circulation throughout all our borders, and thus giving us both the means and the opportunity of performing well the work to which we have consecrated all that we have, and all that we hope for on the earth.

To the People of the South!

THE OLD

"EXAMINER" REVIVED!!

The undersigned, having purchased its good will and subscription books, proposes to revive, at an early day, the old Richmond Examiner, of which the late John M. Daniel was editor-in-chief, and the undersigned his constant associate for the entire period of the war.

It is believed that the public will recognize an appropriate and practical idea in his enterprise—Effort to revive other papers in the South are announced, and it is certainly neither a visionary nor unworthy endeavour for the literary associates of a gallant spirit that now sleeps in the grave to essay honour to his memory and a service to the public by reviving the old Examiner newspaper, so long the ornament of Southern letters, an example at once of the scholarship and chivalry of Virginia; and perhaps the only school in the South of pure and classick English distinct from the models and redeemed from the innovations of Northern instructors.

The fame of the old Richmond Examiner reached to the most distant parts of the world. The paper was well known in Europe. It was pronounced by a distinguished Northern politician "the best exponent of the civilization of the South." It was a school of literary scholarship for the youth of the South; the glass of Southern chivalry; an example of independence, of courage, of iron spirit in newspaper literature, which its chief illustrated in his own noble and severe life, and defended more than once on the field of honor, when the undersigned stood with in the vindication of the freedom of the press.

Surely there are many people in the South who will unite in an effort to revive a newspaper which was an ornament to its literature and a school for its virtues. The task is an ambitious one. But the undersigned attempts it in no mean or flagging spirit. He has already undertaken to marshal a corps of the old writers for the Examiner; he will be able to reproduce its typographical features, and present to Southern readers a fac simile of their old acquaintance; and he fervently trusts and resolutely pledges every resource of intellect and will to breathe again in this form of material resurrection the same spirit of fearless criticism, chivalrous protest and unhesitating encounter with abuse that animated it of old.

The undersigned owns some pledges of affection in this enterprise. His relations with the late John M. Daniel was close, intimate and affectionate to the day of his death. And it will indeed be a labor and aspiration of love if he can produce some echo from the grave of lamented friendship and rekindle from the ashes of the past and the dead some of the fire that illuminated the familiar pages of our literature.

In the present uncertainty of political questions—the disappointment of old issues and the imperfect development of the new—it would, of course, be impossible to state with precision the political career of the Examiner. But this may be said with safety; that it will use all its influence in restoring order, tranquility and prosperity to the people; and while aspiring to be brave and independent, it will avoid every scheme of faction and disorganization, devote itself to the works of conservatism, and sustain, at every risk, the present President of the United States as long as he in his those noble indications he has already given of planting again the rights of constitutional liberty in the South, setting his face against the Malignants of the North, and thus entitling himself to such common support of conservative men in all parts of the country as will secure the continuation of his wise and patriotic administration.

No pains or expense will be spared to make the Examiner the newspaper of the South. For every department of it the services of the most accomplished and active writers will be secured. Special correspondents will be posted in New York and Washington and other important centres of intelligence in the country. A former active editor of the old Examiner, Edward A. Pollard, will be employed as correspondent from Europe in which country he proposes to write a History of the War, and to form a familiar acquaintance with the politics of Europe, especially in connection with American questions and topicks. This correspondence will constitute a special feature of interest in our paper; it will enliven its columns from week to week with the productions of an animated pen; and it will afford our readers a singularly good opportunity to make themselves acquainted with cotemporary Europe, and to apprehend the growing interest of our foreign relations.

The undersigned was recently the editor of the Richmond Times, but in consequence of a disagreement with the part proprietor of that paper, he has been forced to leave it and appeal to the civil courts for his rights; and he now proposes to himself the nobler task of reviving a paper endeared to the South by many memories of the past, and associated with so much that is admirable in its heroick and literary name in history. He calls upon the old subscribers of the Examiner, from Virginia to Texas, to rally to its support, to renew their subscriptions, and to assist in the revival of a paper which has existed for three-quarters of a century, and which has ever been solicitous to honor truth and virtue, prompt to chastise abuses, and ambitious to defend and adorn the civilization and literature of the South,

Advertisements will be inserted on the same terms as published by the other Richmond papers.

The first number of the Examiner will contain a sketch of the life of the late John M. Daniel, whose name is historical in connection with the Virginia press, and than whom few annals of newspaper literature in America show few more extraordinary men—certainly no greater master of vigor and satire in composition. The first numbers will also contain a full and complete account of the evacuation of Richmond, with all the particulars of the surrender of the city, the entry of the troops, the great conflagration, &c., taken from the advance sheets of E. A. Poland's "Fourth Year of the War," now in press. This account will be found intensely interesting; and aside from this consideration, every one should secure and preserve these numbers, as they will be valuable hereafter as affording a true and faithful report of what the South has had hitherto but the imperfect narratives which have been written and published in the Northern press.

The old contributors and correspondents of the Examiner are particularly requested to communicate with the undersigned.

All letters and communications of every character should be addressed to

H. RIVES POLLARD,

Wanted, an Agent in every town in Virginia and all the Southern States.

NOTICE.

MODEL SEWING MACHINE.

(From the New York Herald)

Prominent among the mechanical triumphs of this most ingenious age, common honesty compels us to notice the Empire Sewing Machine, commended as justly styled perfection itself. Useful as have been the various sewing machines, from time to time presented to the public, each one of them has been cursed with some radical defect, which detracts from general utility. Warned by the experience of his predecessors, the inventor of the Empire Machine has produced an instrument, combining all the advantages for which others are vaunted, and obviating every defect which can be attributed to them by the most fastidious critic.

The Empire Machine is a marvellous combination of simplicity, economy and perfect workmanship, being durable, free from liability to get out of order, noiseless, and easy of, operation. its mechanical contrivance is such as to secure stability, freedom from accident, and accuracy as to workmanship. By the use of the patented shuttle and straight needle, it makes a stitch, which can neither rip nor ravel, at the same time, it can operate perfectly upon every species of material from leather to cambric, with threads of cotton, linen or silk, from the finest to the coarsest number.

As the Empire Machine is gradually supplanting its more antique rivals, no one in want of a useful instrument of this description, be he or she tailor, coachmaker, dressmaker or seamstress, can do otherwise than secure one of these economical and inimitable machines, suited alike for family and manufacturing purposes. The office of the Empire Manufacturing Co. is at No. 536 Broadway, New York City, where they are now supplying these Empire Machines at prices far below the real value of the instrument.—New York Herald.
